

Drinks delivery app Quench expands to Gauteng and KZN

Alcohol delivery app Quench has launched in Gauteng and KwaZulu-Natal with a new redesigned app. The business has been delivering cold alcoholic beverages in the Western Cape since 2016.

With the expansion of its operations, it's now delivering to more 80 locations across South Africa with a growing fleet of Quench drivers.

According to the company, it was important to update the platform to accommodate the growth of the service. A complete redesign was carried out with a focus on the interface and user experience.

"We wanted to create an app that matched the mood of every Quench consumer at any point in which they need that drink - making it easier to order with faster delivery times for the thirsty," says Christina Pretorius, operations manager at Quench.

Quench is available for download at quench.mobi and on the app stores.

