Kris Jarzebowski, the current CEO of Interactive Junction Holdings, will be retiring in June 2015.

As part of the company's succession planning process he will be stepping down from his position on 1 March 2014. Kris was a founding member of RGi WorkNet in 1997, which later changed its name to CareerJunction, and has been instrumental in building the company into a leader in the online career solutions industry in South Africa. From 1 March 2014 until his retirement Kris will be handing over to his successor and will take up the position of Chief Officer - Special Projects in charge of key development projects.

Leadership of the company will be taken over by Paul Byrne. Paul joined CareerJunction in June 2001 and has been a member of the board for the past two years. Paul brings with him a wealth of experience having held a number of positions in the company including, sales person, business unit manager, country manager for the UAE region and chief operating officer.

"CareerJunction has established a strong brand position in the online career solutions market and we have always prided ourselves on providing innovative solutions and a strong focus on customer service. I have enjoyed building the business from a start-up to the company it is today and am confident in Paul's ability to lead it into the future," said Kris Jarzebowski.

"Kris has done a great job in leading the company and we are thankful for being able to retain his skills and experience to ensure a smooth handover to Paul and to drive some of our key development projects" said Brian Wootton, executive - corporate finance and operations at Times Media.

Interactive Junction Holdings (Pty) Ltd is a 100% held subsidiary of Times Media (Pty) Ltd
