

Themba Maseko put in charge of BLSA's communications

Themba Maseko has been appointed as Business Leadership South Africa's new director of communications. Maseko formerly worked as the cabinet spokesperson and CEO of Government Communications Information Services.

Maseko has also held several senior roles across government and private sector as founder and director of Ricopart Investments, director of Muvoni Investment, former director general of Public Works and superintendent general of Gauteng Department of Education.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>